

WORKSHOPS

Classes & Afternoon Workshops

Morning:

Morning classes for all Institutes are conducted Monday through Sunday morning, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., with Saturday as the day of Shabbat or Sabbath off.

Afternoon:

Workshop and individual development training classes are conducted twice a week. These sessions consist of a series of tests on gifting, calling, personality, goals and desires.

Evening:

Evening classes begin at 7 p.m. and are open-ended. These sessions are much more flexible and allow more time for prayer and praise and worship as well as occasional personal ministry.

Saturdays:

Group recreation to museums, area shopping, coffee shops, etc. Those desiring to attend ANY INSTITUTE must first fill out the application, pay the application fee, submit a head-and-shoulders recent photo, (no sunglasses please), and meet the necessary requirements as stated in the application. After prayer and review of the application, the prospective student will be notified if accepted or the application is declined. Occasionally an interview with the prospective student may be requested. All students must send a paper copy, or email a fully completed application and the accompanying required items. Any prospective student who has been discovered to announce presumptuously that he or she will be attending an Institute course without applying and receiving the final word of acceptance will be automatically disqualified for application and acceptance. Presumptuous applicants produce presumptuous students.
